

Digital Hanse History: dealing with sources in the 21st century.

6th International workshop for Junior Researchers in history of the German Hanse
22 -24 May 2020, Magdeburg (Germany)

Target group

The workshop addresses all international students and PhD-students in historical sciences or related disciplines interested in the German Hanse

Previous knowledge of Hanseatic history recommended

Working languages: German and English

Program

The first day will focus on the current projects of the participants. Everybody will have the chance to present a research project, e.g. term paper, bachelor-, master-, or PhD-project (max. 10 min).

After a keynote lecture, we will be divided into groups to deal with a particular type of source. The results will be summarised and presented at the following congress of the Hanseatic History Society.

Participation

Send a short motivation letter (about 300 words)

Information on university, study status and language skills

Project presentation is not required for participation

Applications to: hanseworkshop@web.de

Registrations will be accepted until 28th of February.

Link: https://fgho.eu/de/nachwuchsworkshop_2020

